1 Introduction and overview 7

1.1 Constitutions and policy: a missing link 8
1.2 Which constitutional rules and policies? 11
1.3 Overview of the book 13

2 What does theory say? 17
2.1 Introduction 17
2.2 A common approach 19
2.3 Electoral rules 21
2.3.1 District magnitude 22
2.3.2 Electoral formula 25
2.3.3 Ballot structure 26
2.3.4 Empirical predictions 26
2.4 Forms of government 27
2.4.1 Separation of powers 28
2.4.2 Confidence requirement 28
2.4.3 Empirical predictions 30
2.5 Related ideas 30
2.6 What questions do we pose to the data? 34
2.7 The empirical agenda 36

3 Policy measures and their determinants 39
3.1 Introduction 39
3.2 Fiscal policy 41
3.2.1 Size of government 41
3.2.2 Composition of government 50
3.2.3 Budget surplus 52

3.3 Rent extraction 54
3.3.1 Measuring corruption 54
3.3.2 Determinants of corruption 56
3.4 Productivity and policy 59
3.4.1 Measuring productivity and growth promoting policies 60
3.4.2 Determinants of productivity and growth promoting policies 62

4 Electoral rules and forms of government 69
4.1 Introduction 69
4.2 Which countries and years? 70
4.2.1 Defining democracies 71
4.2.2 Dating democracies 73
4.3 Electoral rules 75
4.3.1 Basic measures of electoral rules 76
4.3.2 Dating of electoral rules 78
4.3.3 Continuous measures of electoral rules 80
4.4 Forms of government 83
4.4.1 A basic measure of forms of government 84
4.4.2 Dating of forms of government 86
4.5 Our political atlas 88
4.6 Constitutions, performance and co-variates: a first look 90
4.6.1 Constitutions and outcomes 90
4.6.2 Constitutions and other co-variates 93

5 Cross-sectional inference: Pitfalls and methods 95
5.1 Introduction 95
5.2 The question 98
5.2.1 Primitives 98
5.2.2 The parameter of interest 100
5.2.3 Estimation 101
5.3 Simple linear regressions 103
5.3.1 Conditional independence 103
5.3.2 Linearity 104
5.3.3 Ordinary Least Squares 105
5.4 Relaxing conditional independence 108
5.4.1 Instrumental variables 108
5.4.2 Adjusting for selection 113

5.5 Relaxing linearity . . . 117
5.5.1 Matching estimators . . . 118
5.5.2 Propensity scores . . . 119
5.5.3 Implementation . . . 122
5.6 Multiple constitutional states . . . 127

6 Fiscal Policy: Variation across countries 129
6.1 Introduction . . . 129
6.2 Size of government . . . 132
6.2.1 OLS estimates . . . 132
6.2.2 IV and Heckman estimates . . . 135
6.2.3 Matching estimates . . . 137
6.2.4 Summary . . . 139
6.3 Composition of government . . . 140
6.3.1 OLS estimates . . . 140
6.3.2 IV and Heckman estimates . . . 144
6.3.3 Matching estimates . . . 145
6.3.4 Summary . . . 146
6.4 Budget surplus . . . 146
6.4.1 OLS estimates . . . 147
6.4.2 Heckman estimates . . . 148
6.4.3 Matching estimates . . . 149
6.4.4 Summary . . . 149
6.5 Concluding remarks . . . 150

7 Political rents and productivity: Variation across countries 153
7.1 Introduction . . . 153
7.2 Political rents . . . 156
7.2.1 OLS estimates . . . 157
7.2.2 IV and Heckman estimates . . . 160
7.2.3 Matching estimates . . . 162
7.2.4 Summary . . . 163
7.3 Productivity . . . 163
7.3.1 Reduced-form estimates . . . 164
7.3.2 Structural-form estimates . . . 166
7.3.3 Endogenous selection . . . 169
7.3.4 Matching estimates . . . 171
7.3.5 Summary . . . 172

7.4 Concluding remarks . . . 173

8 Fiscal policy: Variation across time 175
8.1 Introduction . . . 175
8.2 Methodology . . . 177
8.2.1 The question . . . 177
8.2.2 Estimation . . . 179
8.3 Unobserved common events . . . 181
8.3.1 Size of government . . . 183
8.3.2 Welfare spending . . . 186
8.3.3 Budget surplus . . . 188
8.3.4 Summary . . . 189
8.4 Output gaps . . . 190
8.4.1 Size of government . . . 191
8.4.2 Welfare spending . . . 194
8.4.3 Budget surplus and government revenue . . . 196
8.4.4 Summary . . . 197
8.5 Elections . . . 198
8.5.1 Unconditional electoral cycles . . . 201
8.5.2 Proportional vs. majoritarian democracies . . . 203
8.5.3 Parliamentary vs. presidential democracies . . . 205
8.5.4 A four-way constitutional split . . . 207
8.5.5 Summary . . . 208
8.6 Concluding remarks . . . 208

9 What have we learned? 211
9.1 Theoretical priors and empirical results . . . 211
9.1.1 Electoral rules . . . 212
9.1.2 Forms of government . . . 215
9.2 What next? . . . 217
